JOE YEAGER COMING EAST WITH A BIG RACING STABLE.

Has Second Call on Jockey Hildebrand—Atlanta to Go Over to the A. T. A.—Grand Stand Messengers Barred at Bunnings—Kibbets After His Players.

Joe Yeager, the "Boy Plunger," although he is no longer a boy in the estimation of turfmen, is coming East soon with the largest racing stable he has ever owned. He will have a call on the services of Eugene Hildebrand and K. E. Campbell, the well known colored trainer, will have charge of the string. Yeager has a two-year-old in his stable, named Kingmaker, the first result of his attempt to breed thoroughbreds at his Iowa stock farm. The colt is by Lazarene, the substance winner of 1880, who is now owned by the plunger. Leonidas, also owned by Yeager, will be a starter in the Montgomery Handicap before he comes East. Several horses owned by E. G. Stutter, Yeager's partner, and T. J. Hildebrand, father of the jockey, will also come here in Trainer Campbell's care, the combined stable being made up of the following racers:

Kingmaker, ch. c., 2, by Lazarene—Religion.
Awakening, b. f., 3, by Flying Dutchman—Diastase.
Maude Fealy, b. f., 3, by Ben Strome—Mint Julep.

Yeager has been racing at Hot Springs nearly all winter, but has not been doing a great deal of heavy betting, being contented with making a big bank. Some time ago he declared to his friends that he had quit the plunging end of the game forever, but he was probably joking, as a speculator of his temperamental could not refrain from plunging now and then, especially when he felt reasonably sure that he had an "ace in the hole." Yeager left the Eastern tracks year before last a winner to the extent of $70,000, but last year it was estimated in the ring that he was all of $100,000 lower on the season. Toward the close of the campaign he did very little betting and seemed glad to get away. He had first call on Hildebrand last year, but he recently declined the offer. He is now, reserving second call for himself. Some persons have tried to create the belief that Yeager will fill the shoes of the late Pittsburgh Phil, as the biggest and most successful plunger on the turf. But this seems hardly probable when one compares the methods of the men. Yeager is erratic, inclined to follow hunches, and displays poor judgment at times in the matter of discerning public favor. Whereas Pittsburgh Phil was cool, systematic and possessed judgment that could not be swayed by outside influences. Yeager wants to play six races a day, week in and week out. He has scored his greatest successes in poolrooms, where he first got a good sized bank roll.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has turned over the title of the jockey club track, W. E. Appleton of Louisville, who has had a long legal struggle with Judge George C. Perkins of Covington for possession. Appleton, who has received the backing of August Hermann, Julius Fleischmann, George B. Cox and Congressman Joseph L. Rhineck of Covington, will probably take Atlanta out of the Western jockey club and seek membership in the American Turf Association, as Fleischmann is a member of the A. T. A.'s board of appeals. This will prove to be a hard blow for the W. E. C., which seems to be under a heavy curse. Two years ago Appleton bought Latonia from Perkins for $200,000, giving notes and Latonia stock as security. After paying $100,000, Appleton is said to have refused further payment. Perkins instituted legal proceedings and finally the track was sold at auction, when it was alleged to be a private sale to Perkins's son, who was then a minor. Appleton then sued, setting forth that the sale was not regular, and the court of appeals has decided in his favor. But the American Turf Association will not be easily secured control of the plant. This amount will be easy from all accounts. Hermann, Cox, Fleischmann and Rhineck promised to put it up for Appleton some time ago.

The Illinois Senate has just passed a bill prohibiting pool selling of any description on the results of the horse races. The bill provides that a sheriff, upon the complaint of five or more citizens, shall make arrests, and that the failure to do so shall be deemed a misdemeanor, punishable by a $5,000 fine and removal from office by the Governor of the State. The bill will come up in the House next week for consideration. The Senate without a dissenting vote.

"Talk about a man wanting the earth, in the way of good things," said Miquo O'Brien to a group of turfmen in the Hoffman House the other day, "why you ought to see Eddie Foy in a Covington poolroom several years ago. Somebody handed him a 40 to 1 shot in the second race. Foy bet on it and it won. He put eighty-two boxes in his pocket and began to brag. He told me he would hand him a 60 to 1 shot in the next race. Eddie peeled three cases off the roll the time and the 60 to 1 won. Foy bet on it and Foy, as he scowled fiercely, said: 'What do you think of the robbers, anyway?' He wouldn't take a cent on another good thing for a week afterward, either."

H. G. Crickmore announced last night that owing to a request of a majority of subscribers to the Whitney Commercial Steeplechase that event will not be run on the opening day of the Belmont Park meet, but will be held at some later date.

The Washington Jockey Club, according to S. S. Howland, will abolish the grand stand messengers at Bunnings. So many complaints were received from gentlemen who had been fined for not collecting money in various ways that the association decided to stop the evil altogether at Washington. Whether this measure will go into effect at the Metropolitan Jockey Club, but should interfere without further delay.

In a selling race run recently at City Park, New Orleans, L. V. Bell, the well known Wall Street broker and turfman, started Brush 10, who was actually the best runner in the race, but he was not formally started. He was, however, the best runner in the race, but he was not formally started. He was, however, the best runner in the race, but he was not formally started.

"I am not now and never was Young Corbett manager," said Al Herford when he arrived in Baltimore. Herford, who is a manager of the Baltimore team, said that he was not a manager of the Baltimore team, but he was not a manager of the Baltimore team.

Bill Morley, the Columbia football coach, who has just come back from a visit to the city of Mexico, says that the average organization there is called the "Jockey Club," and that everybody who is anybody belongs, and that nobody knows anything about the racing, for the reason that the sport has never been introduced in that country. Morley, who is a light weight, and is at his best at the corbett does not want to train below 130 in future, and I do not believe he will do much more ring work.

President Ebbs of the Brooklyn is hustling about the country trying to sign some of the players who have been asked to accept minor league salaries. Ebbs was in Pittsburgh on Tuesday, but Lewis and Pastoris, drafted by Brooklyn from Baltimore and Albany, respectively, refused to do business at the terms named, and Ebbs soon started for Albany to try to sign them.

NEW LACROSSE LEAGUE.

Amended Rules to Govern Game as Played in American Colleges.

In December, 1904, a committee was appointed by the Interuniversity Lacrosse League, comprising Harvard, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania, to confer with representatives of Princeton Institute, Lehigh, Johns Hopkins and Swarthmore of the Intercollegiate League for the purpose of combining the two leagues in an organization to govern the game in American colleges. The recommendations of the joint committee, embodying several amendments to the playing rules, were adopted at a meeting of the two governing bodies, held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel last Saturday night.

The new association is to be known as the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse League, with the eight members of the old league enrolled.

The new rules place the game on the same footing as our older college sports, by requiring one year of residence and limiting the player's lacrosse work to four years.

Other changes affect the length of time for which a player may be removed as a penalty for fouling, the number of substitutes that may be played in any contest, and the prohibition of the foul keeper. The player may not be body checked except when carrying the ball, and no member of the attack will be allowed within the crease except when the ball is there.

The officers of the new association are to be elected by the colleges they represent, not undergraduates, as heretofore. The first election of officers will be held next November. In addition to the university representatives the executive body of the U. S. I. L. will contain two men from outside.

For the coming season the league is to be divided into so-called northern and southern sections. The former is to comprise the four members of the old Interuniversity League, Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania, and the latter will be made up of the members of the former Intercollegiate League, Stevens, Lehigh, Johns Hopkins and Swarthmore. Each section will play its own schedule, and the championship will meet at the end of the season to decide the national championship.

Harvard and Swarthmore were the champions of the Eastern and Western sections of the Eastern A. C. claim the championship of the United States, having won the Intercollegiate Lacrosse League, Stevens, Lehigh, Johns Hopkins and Swarthmore.

FOOTBALLERS ORGANIZE.

Enthusiasm at Meeting of Those Who Play the Association Game.

Representatives of association football clubs in New York, Brooklyn, Staten Island, Newark and Paterson attended the first annual meeting of the Metropolitan Association Football League, which was held yesterday at the New York Caledonian Club. Before the regular business of the meeting began, a long discussion took place regarding the playing of Sunday games. The sentiment of the majority of the delegates present appeared to be opposed to the playing of anything but the strictly amateur standing of the players, and it was at length agreed to organize a league to be known as the Metropolitan Association Football League.

GOOSE FINISH IN HANDICAP.

KITTE PLATT BEATS ESCUTCHON AND TRAPPER.

Ed Early at 50 to 1 Finishes in Front of Hadrian, a 7 to 5 Favorite—Mezzo and Montpelier Win at Good Odds—The Meeting Extended Until March 25.

NEW ORLEANS, March 16.—The Crescent City Jockey Club made the announcement to-day that after the Louisiana Jockey Club had completed the race the Crescent City would take up the running and continue until March 25, or two days before the scheduled opening of the Memphis Jockey Club. Sanction for the extension was granted at a special meeting of the Western Jockey Club held in Chicago to-day. This means that the conflict will continue until March 25 and possibly beyond that time.

Nothing of a classic nature was attempted at the old track to-day. The best race on the programme was a handicap at seven furlongs, that produced one of the most exciting finishes of the season. Kittle Platt, Escutcheon and Trapper finished neck and neck at the end of an interesting struggle. The three placed horses were about equal favorites ranging from 8 to 5 to 3 to 1. Kittle Platt, came down on the outside and with a strong finish won by a head. Jockey Seder tossed off a race on Dr. Stephens, who quit and came again, only to be beaten by Mezzo. Velox held his own for a long time, and was beaten only a head by Dr. Stephens.

Hadrian, the 7 to 5 favorite in the second race, was easily beaten by Ed Early, a 50 to 1 shot, who held the front throughout the race. The talent is just getting familiar with the fact that Ed Early is something more than a joke. Ogles got as good as 5 to 1 against the son of Madison to-day, and he cleaned up the race. Ogles got away in good position at the sixth race, and that settled it, and there was no getting away from Arch Oldham in the seventh race.

First Race—One mile and a sixteenth—Mezzo, 100 (M. Murphy), 8 to 1; won. Velox, 100 (Seder), 8 to 1; second. Hadrian, 100 (J. Seder), 7 to 5; third. Time, 1:42.5. Plate, $100.
